

ORGANIZATIONAL TRAINING

<https://beradical.group>

be radical.

be radical's Organizational Training Program is a deeply immersive learning program specifically designed to help organizations and their leaders understand, contextualize and navigate the future and disruptive change. The program delves into the disruptive implications of emerging technologies and convergent economic and social trends whilst enabling leaders to leverage these trends and realize new opportunities for the organization. The program can be delivered as a standalone experience or embedded into a broader learning & development context.

Case Study

Dubai-based Kitopi is the world's leading managed cloud kitchen platform and closed a $415M Series C round in mid-2021 to achieve unicorn status. Kitopi partners with over 200 food & beverage brands around the world on its smart kitchen operating system to ensure speed, efficiency, and an outstanding customer experience in 60+ kitchens globally.

Kitopi's Experience

Kitopi Academy (L&D division of Kitopi) partnered with be radical to bring our learning solutions to a cohort of 60+ C-Suite, Vice Presidents, Managing Directors, General Managers, Directors and selected Managers as a transformational leadership program that would support the company's transition from laser-focused startup to global scale-up.

"be radical's Organizational Training Program is a radically different program with practical tools immediately applicable to content. Pascal and Jeffrey are very charismatic speakers that break the fourth wall with participants, bring stunning visuals to the table, a unique method of delivery and tools and frameworks that are actionable. Our senior leaders are now able to leverage a practical futurist toolkit consisting of polarity mapping, signal spotting field guide, among others to look at problems differently. Before, Kitopi was always problem solving at the speed of light and now leaders are more deliberate in the way they approach different problems."

Ian Lee, Manager - Training & Leadership Development at Kitopi

be radical.

Leveraging the initial program's success, Kitopi aims to integrate be radical's solutions into its broader learning strategy. The company also plans to extend the program's discussions and toolsets to additional cohorts of learning leaders as it significantly expands its reach and service offerings.

We look forward to advising you on how our organizational training programs can either complement your existing L&D strategy or serve as a standalone learning solution for your teams and organizational leaders.

Contact Mafe Saldarriaga at mafe@beradical.group today.

We're in the business of shaping the future.

We guide organizations to restructure for the challenges ahead and inspire individuals to grow into leaders ready for tomorrow's world.

Through eye-opening, memorable keynotes and highly collaborative workshops, we assist you in visualizing a better future for your organization, stakeholders, and yourself. Then, we guide you in constructing it with focused, purpose-driven initiatives. We transform leaders into "practical futurists," prepared to interpret emerging trends, maneuver through uncertainty and complexity, and view the future as an exciting playground for innovation, growth, and transformation.

<https://beradical.group>